The Sign of His Power over Death

John 11:25-27; 38-44

The Point: Jesus offers us the hope of a new life.

The Bible Meets Life: Have you ever heard the phrase “doctor’s hours?” Typically, when we hear this phrase, it means that a doctor is never truly off from their work. They may receive calls from patients at all hours, especially when emergencies arise. The patients want to know that their doctor is present and able to help them through whatever situation occurs. If the doctor isn’t able to be there, then the patients will get anxious and not feel secure about the care they are receiving. If a situation becomes dire or even at the point of death, and the doctor isn’t present, the doctors may even be blamed for not providing the care they should have provided to the patient.

In today’s passage, we’re going to read about a time when a friend of Jesus was gravely ill, and the family wanted Jesus to be there for them. When his death occurred, the family wrestled with what Jesus could have done if only He had been present in those moments. Yet, we will soon see there was a far greater truth to be demonstrated in the death and raising to life of Lazarus.

Live It Out: Explore. Do a computer search of Bible verses that show the nature of Jesus Christ and share those with someone this week who may be struggling in his or her faith. Evaluate. Spend some time reflecting upon your personal confession and salvation story. Consider how your confession is being matched by how you are surrendering to the Lord. Invite. As a group, begin to pray for someone this week that you know may be skeptical of the truths of Christ. And take time during the week to invite this person to attend Easter services with you.
