God is Omnipotent
Isaiah 44:6-9, 21-28

The Point: There is nothing God cannot do.

The Bible Meets Life: Growing up in Atlanta in the 1970s, I went to many events at the Omni Arena. Atlanta's basketball and hockey teams played there. I saw my first rock concert there. It hosted the Final Four in 1977, the Democratic National Convention in 1988, and the Summer Olympics in 1996. It even had a hotel attached to it, complete with an ice-skating rink, and the world's only indoor amusement park.

The Omni had everything.

Naturally, when I first heard about God's omniscience, omnipresence, and omnipotence, I grasped their meaning almost immediately. I already knew omni meant everything, so omniscience had to mean God is all-knowing; omnipresence, that He is all-present; and omnipotence, that He is all-powerful.

God is all this and more. However, intellectually knowing God can do everything is different from practically trusting God to be actively working in our lives. Put another way, we say God can do everything, but we often act like He doesn't do anything. What if we could somehow align what we say we believe with how we live our everyday lives?

That would change everything.

Live It Out: Acknowledge it. Pray the Lord's prayer at least once each day this week. Focus on the line, "For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever" (Matt. 6:13, KJV). Personalize it. Second Peter 1:3 promises that "His divine power has given us everything required for life and godliness." Identify areas of your life where you must depend on God's power. Yield to it. Although God is all-powerful, we must make the decision to submit to His power in our own lives. Pray and ask God for discernment to discover areas in your life where you need to do this.
