When God Interrupts Your Life

Hebrews 11:8-19

The Point: When God interrupts our plans, we can trust what He's doing.

The Bible Meets Life: Three significant events were triggered by:

- ▶ A wrong turn
- ▶ A change in the wind
- ▶ A mistake

History is replete with major shifts that were prompted by small interruptions that unleashed a series of consequences no one could have imagined.

▶ What if Archduke Ferdinand's driver had not accidentally turned down the wrong street, giving a Serbian assassin his opportunity and starting World War I?

▶ What if the wind had not shifted to the north, forcing the Spanish Armada to retreat in their battle with the English fleet?

▶ What if an uncovered Petri dish of staphylococcal bacteria in Alexander Fleming's lab had not been contaminated with penicillium mold, producing a life-saving discovery?

The Bible contains many such stories whose outcomes were dramatically altered by a providential turn of events, angelic appointments, or God's calling.

Abraham's day started out like any other, with well-worn routines running their course. Then, God interrupted. How Abraham responded would put in play a series of outcomes that were bigger than he could have ever dreamed.

Live It Out: Shift your focus. Meditate on Scriptures about heaven (Rev. 21:1-4, 22-27; 22:1-5). Sing songs about what it will be like when you are home with Him. Follow God's leading. Train yourself to obey God immediately. When He urges you to pray with a friend, help someone financially, or share the gospel—don't ignore Him. Obeying God's leading opens doors to experiencing Him in wonderful ways.
